Demarest announces new Life Sciences and Healthcare partner

Demarest Advogados announced the hiring of Elysiangela Rabelo (pictured) as a new partner in the Life Sciences and Healthcare practice area.

Driven by technological advances, demographic factors, regulatory changes, and health policies, the Brazilian Life Sciences and Healthcare sector holds significant growth potential in the coming years and requires increasingly specialized professionals.

Elysiangela has worked as a lawyer for over 25 years and concentrates her practice in the Life Sciences and Healthcare practice area, combining her experience in commercial transactions as well as in mergers and acquisitions due to her extensive technical and regulatory knowledge. Among her key clients, she advised hospitals, health technology startups, specialized clinics, as well as companies in the health insurance, pharmaceutical, global medical equipment, cosmetics, and food industries.

Elyangela holds a post-graduate degree in Business Management from Business School São Paulo. She is currently vice president of the Life Sciences Subcommittee of the Technology Law Committee of the IBA (International Bar Association).
